Power Moves for Parents to Help Their Kids Crush Their Homework

Power Move #1 It's All About Connection

-When doing homework with your kids, be sure to dig in instead of fade out. It's easy to multi-task when doing homework, be PRESENT and connected to what your child is working on. They will feel your attention and be more apt to stick with their work.

-Connect your child's work to real-life, interesting examples to make it relevant. Kids also love games and challenges – how can you turn their homework into a fun activity?

-Connect with your child's school by reaching out to their teacher.

-Set up a meeting at the beginning of the year to introduce yourself and give the teacher a sense of your child and how they learn. Be sure to highlight any learning exceptionalities that are diagnosed or suspected.
